THE BOND ELECTION

The Proposition to Issue $60,000 in Bonds for a Municipal Lighting Plant Carries by Large Majority

It was a happy thought that impelled the city trustees to select the longest day in the year as the date of the bond election. The result was that the polls opened promptly at 6 o'clock and the result was announced before darkness fell. It was a pretty strenuous day for the workers on both sides, but the interest in the matter relaxed somewhat during the last few hours as the work of voting progressed, it becoming evident to close watchers, of whom there were a number, that the requisite two-thirds majority was being exceeded by the proponents of the measure. He was a mighty poor voter who couldn't get an automobile ride on Tuesday and few escaped the vigilance of both parties. Automobiles whizzed around corners and broke the speed ordinance all to pieces; carry-alls hurried from house to house and it is reported that even one or two voters walked to the polls, but everybody agrees that they got there. There were about 500 voters registered in Glendale precinct at the last election, but deaths and removals had taken a number of them from the register while the newcomers had not qualified themselves for voting. Many newcomers who arrived here within the past six months had neglected to secure voting transfers and lost their votes in consequence, and so it happened that there were less than 400 voters qualified to take part in the contest. The total number of votes cast, 322, was really a good proportion of citizens and no one can truly claim that there was not a fair expression of the popular will. Opposition to the bond issue was much stronger in the first part of the campaign than it proved to be at the finish. The expressed intention of the trustees to sell only the portion of the bonds actually needed to carry on the work and to buy power if possible instead of being at the expense of putting in a generating plant, disarmed a large number of citizens who had a natural fear of extravagant and unnecessary expenditures. Several elements that have hitherto not worked together harmoniously in local affairs, joined in forces in this issue. While the principal strength of the opponents of the issue comes from the western side of town where the need of electric light and power is not seriously felt, there were yet a number of voters from that section who supported the proposition. The Socialist contingent also worked for the bond issue on general principles and polled quite a bunch of votes. A number of citizens who have not heretofore been in favor of anything that promised to increase taxes, turned out on Tuesday and supported the bond issue enthusiastically. Altogether it was a good fair contest and only one thing prevented the minority from winning—they didn't have enough votes!

CLASS DAY EXERCISES ON JUNE 22. "THE RIVALS."

Tuesday evening, when for the first time and through the courtesy of Mr. Bliss, the High School auditorium was thrown open to an eager public, the opportunity was seized to see the handsome building which the pupils will so soon claim as they would their own, and to witness the charming comedy "The Rivals," as given by pupils under the tuition of Miss Hardy. Music was furnished by the well-trained High School orchestra, under direction of Mrs. Mary Anderson; also the Boys' chorus and the Glee Club, all High School organizations. The class history was read by Miss Alma Stone and the class prophecy by Clarence Emory.

The presentation of the play was a very ambitious effort, but it would be difficult to find a company of amateurs who would do it better. Their work showed evidence of careful training and persistent practice. Three or four of the parts were played with almost professional skill. The cast was as follows:

Following is the cast:

TO REDUCE RUNNING TIME FOR GLENDALE.

The city council has instructed the city clerk to advertise for sale a franchise for a car line on West Sixth street, from Olive to Figueroa. Application for the franchise has been made by H. E. Huntington for the Pacific Electric company. It is wanted to reduce the distance and running time on the Glendale line.—L. A. Express.

H. E. Tupper has been appointed agent for Lloyd's Motor Car Insurance of London, England, in Glendale and vicinity. This company insures against fire, theft, collision, including property damage. The cost is only about 3 per cent. of the value of the car.

NEW BUILDINGS.

An Artistic Home.

Whether the lure of Sidney Dell's "Serpentine four-mile Eucalyptus Avenue," or the general charm of Greater Glendale is responsible, we do not know, but certain it is that the home builders are getting particularly busy in the neighborhood of Brand boulevard and the "Wash." Mr. J. B. Webber, of the Title Insurance and Trust Company, Los Angeles, is building on the east side of the boulevard, on the north side of the wash, a home that promises to be unique and attractive beyond the average. The plans are by Una Nixon Hopkins, of Pasadena, and the particular type of building is known as the "Bachelor Girls' House." Particular features are pergolas and screened porches for sleeping rooms and a combination stairway for both the front and rear portions of the house. This latter opens onto the screened porch in front and into the living room in the rear. The house will be of two stories and stands on a lot 90 feet front by 360 feet deep. Along the front is to run a pergola porch 8x12 feet over the entrance, while the porch in the rear will be larger and over both will be the open air sleeping rooms. The front room facing south will be a spacious apartment, 15 by 27 feet, looking out over the private driveway which will be over the filled-in portion of the lot.

The "color scheme" (with permission of the society editor) is as follows: Dining room blue-green; bedroom gray-green; sewing room, yellow-green, etc. The cost of the house will be at least $3000. Mr. Samuel Mason, of Lomita Park, is the builder.

In the same locality, on Fairview avenue, Contractor Siberell of Los Angeles, has started three houses for a Mr. Murray of Los Angeles, to cost from $1200 to $1500 each. They will be of the one-story five-room type.

James M. Herron has contract for and is putting up a five-room one-story cottage on Louise street near Fairview for Mr. J. R. Lockwood, to cost $1500. Mr. Lockwood intends to build another house nearby.

Mr. G. W. Strobel is about to begin the erection of a house on Rudy Court, just south of Tenth street, east of Brand boulevard, to cost about $1600. Frank Nell, contractor. It will be a story and a half house with five rooms down stairs and bedroom and sleeping balcony above.

Mr. C. M. Reid, a newcomer to Glendale, is building a $2000 residence on Brand boulevard just south of the High School. It is to be a one-story structure, dimensions 26 by 45.

In the Garden Home tract, Ninth and Glendale avenue, Contractor C. B. Franklin is putting up a house for Mrs. Huesman which will cost about $2600. It will be a story and a half structure with eight rooms.

Mr. G. W. Strobel has sold for Mr. A. W. Collins, the property consisting of house and lot, at 1133 Brand boulevard, to Mr. Adam Minick of Walla Walla, Wyo., who will soon occupy the premises.

AN OLD-TIMER VISITS GLENDALE.

One of the visitors to Glendale during the last few days, was Judge John D. Bicknell, one of the old-time and most highly respected lawyers in this section. Judge Bicknell retired from practice a few months ago, but manages to keep in close touch with all matters affecting the welfare of the state which he has been identified with for the past fifty years, as he came to California in 1860, traveling over the plains in an ox team. Years ago when litigation began between the more recent settlers here and the Verdugos over the water rights, Judge Bicknell was one of the first lawyers consulted in regard to the matter by a committee of the then newcomers, of whom the writer was one. The disinterested advice he gave the committee at that time has never been forgotten by at least one member of it. "Gentlemen," he said, "it's easy enough to get into court, but you never know how you are going to come out—particularly in water matters, for California is a law unto itself in regard to that subject, for we have to make precedents as we go along." Reminded of this remark the other day he laughed and remarked, "Well, I guess you have found it about that way; particularly in regard to the percolating waters of this valley; but the decisions of our courts must be abided by." Judge Bicknell has recently returned from a voyage to China and other parts of the Orient.

DEATH OF J. G. KEMP.

Mr. J. G. Kemp who for a year or more past has conducted the shoe shop on Glendale avenue, started for the East to visit relatives, about two weeks ago. His friends here were surprised when he returned to Glendale Saturday last. He has been a sufferer from asthma for years and caught an extra cold in traveling Eastward. Arriving at his destination his condition was so serious that the physician advised him to return at once to California. But although he reached here it was too late. He died Monday evening about 6 o'clock. The body was sent East.

PRESIDENT'S DAY

Tuesday Afternoon Club Winds Up with a Picnic at Canyon Crest—A Feast of Reason and Other Things

The close of the season's work of the Tuesday Afternoon club, was celebrated in a most happy manner last Tuesday by a picnic at Canyon Crest, the hospitable and beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Wells—or more exactly speaking—in the canyon itself, the crest of which looks over the long sweep of the San Fernando Valley to the westward. It was "President's Day," and the president of the club, Mrs. Edgar W. Pack, assisted by a committee, named as follows, managed all the details of the very successful affair:

Mrs. D. W. Hunt, Mrs. J. C. Sherer, Mrs. C. C. Campbell, Mrs. James H. Wells, Miss Cora Hickman and Mrs. G. E. Williams. The members of the club were out in full force accompanied by a large number of guests, so that it was a numerous company that assembled under the oak trees to enjoy the affair. The gentlemen did not arrive until late in the afternoon and it was after 5 o'clock when the picnic supper was spread, but excellent punch was on tap before this. After the bill of fare had been discussed most happily, when even the pie and the cheese and the excellent coffee had been disposed of, there came a "pause in the day's occupations" and the toastmistress, Mrs. Mary Ogden Ryan, with apt quotation from Lowell's "Day in June," and other appropriate phrases, called out the speakers. Mrs. Lillian S. Wells responded to "Our Folks," giving that quaint old Quaker toast,

"Here's to the health of thee and thy folks,
From me and my folks—sure, there never was folks
Since folks was folks, ever loved folks as me
And my folks love thee and thy folks."

She worked in very neatly, "Good wishes and God speed," to the president of the club and her husband, who leave Glendale in a few days for several months abroad. Mrs. Robert Morris spoke on Reciprocity. Mrs. C. C. Campbell replied to "Our Guests of the Year," expressing the appreciation felt by the club members for the visits received from and the talks given by Mrs. W. D. Byram, Capt. J. M. Wells, Mr. Dodge and Mr. Harper. The first honorary member of the club, Edgar Leavitt, spoke on "Glendale the Beautiful," arousing the enthusiasm of those present by his glowing picture of Glendale's great future. Miss Cora Hickman responded to "Our President," paying to Mrs. Pack many well deserved compliments in well chosen, eloquent sentences. Mrs. Pack spoke of "Our Club," alluding in a general way to the work it has accomplished, promising a still more useful future and expressing appreciation for the loyal aid given by all members of the organization. Upon the conclusion of Mrs. Pack's address, Mrs. G. E. Williams presented to her on behalf of the club a testimonial of their affection in the shape of an elegant silver chain hand bag, engraved with the name of the club and the recipient. Mrs. Pack expressed her appreciation in a few well chosen words.

Miss Steen, of Los Angeles, added to the enjoyment of the occasion by giving two or three readings which proved her to be possessed of talent of a high order, her work being characterized by a naturalness which few public readers possess. The company dispersed as daylight began to fade away and the Tuesday Afternoon club for the year 1909 rested from its labors with a verdict of "Well Done."

Go to the Miradero Pharmacy for your fireworks, boys, and get the best and loudest.

A GAS WAR.

It begins to look as if we might have a gas war in Glendale even before we have gas. The company represented by Messrs. Torrence, Campbell, McIntyre, Griswold and Gordon who have been convassing this territory for the past several weeks and have secured something like 800 subscribers to their proposition, who have agreed to take gas at the rate of $1.25 per thousand, announces that they expect to begin work within thirty days, notwithstanding all reports to the contrary. About a week ago the Domestic Gas Company of Los Angeles sent its agents into this territory and for a week past they have been canvassing this section for subscribers at $1.00 per thousand, promising to begin work at once. It begins to look as if gas and electric light and everything else desirable is coming our way.

THE FLAG ON MOUNT HOLLYWOOD.

Contributions may also be left at the NEWS office.

On motion the time for hearing this appeal was set for Friday, July 2d, at 3 p. m. at the city hall. On motion of Trustee Anderson the board proceeded to canvass the returns of the bond election of June 22d. Trustees Anderson and Cole being appointed tellers, reported as follows:

For acquiring, constructing and completing electric light works, yes, 250; no, 78.

A resolution was then passed declaring the result. The clerk was instructed to prepare an abstract of the proceedings of the electric light works bonds and have the same printed in pamphlet form and duly certified by him.

On Monday afternoon at the Maids and Matrons of the Glendale Country club, Mrs. H. E. Bartlett ably assisted by Mrs. V. Price Brown and Mrs. A. W. Dow, jr., as hostesses entertained at the club house. The first part of the program was a geographical contest which caused no little amusement and much instruction. The prize, a Libby cut glass bon bon dish, was awarded to Mrs. L. C. Brand, having guessed correctly the greatest number in the enigma. The second part, Miss Emma Williams rendered, in her usual finished manner Chopin's Nocturne, G Major, on the piano and an encore, Dvorak's Humoreske. Following the piano solo, Miss McCall of New York City, in a rich contralto voice, full of pathos sang "Song of the Heart" and the encore was "Slumber Song," by Douglas. MISS SHULTZ HONORED.

Miss Lucile Shultz, who in the near future is to become the bride of Mr. Thos. Palmer of Los Angeles, was the honored guest at a very pretty party given her on Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Mary Ogden Ryan, Fifth street, by members of the faculties of the Fourth and Sixth street schools. Very fragrant and beautiful were the dainty rooms as arranged for the happy affair. Reception hall and parlor were resplendent with blossoms banked over mantel and piano, intertwined through the wide archway and about the balustrade. The dining room was cheery in red geraniums and delicate ferns. Place cards were formed of two hearts pierced and held together with the proverbial arrow. The sweet honore, who is a great favorite with faculty and pupils, and in social and tennis circles, was presented a beautiful engraved silver ladle. Toasts and bright speeches preceded the congratulations showered upon Miss Shultz, who acknowledged that Saturday night would form one of the happiest memories of her life. It was a love feast, and as such will long be remembered by all who were present.

The Glendale Market are showing a fine line of Ham, Bacon and Salt Meats. Try them.

ACCIDENT TO MR. ASA FANSET.

The many friends of Mr. Asa Fanset will regret to learn of a serious accident which occurred to him Saturday last. He was loading a wagon with orange boxes at his home on East Fourth street when a box gave way beneath him and he fell from the wagon to the hard ground, striking on his face and breast. As he instinctively protected himself with his arm it gave way and was broken near the wrist. As Mr. Fanset is a heavy man he fell with great force and aside from the broken arm and bruised face he is suffering somewhat from internal injuries which seem, however, to be gradually healing so that it is hoped that he will not be laid up for a long time. Mrs. Fanset who was absent at the hot springs at Temescal, where she had gone to try the efficacy of hot water for rheumatism, returned home Wednesday, not having been notified of Mr. Fanset's accident.

THE LILLIPUTIAN SISTERS.

The above refers to the Adams sisters, who are to give an entertainment at Filger's hall on the evening of Friday, July 2, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church. The little ladies are spoken of as giving a remarkably attractive entertainment and are heralded by a great variety of favorable press notices from leading papers.

Don't fail to see H. E. Tupper when you want Insurance. The very best companies and my long experience will save you money. Glendale Bank Bldg., 4th & Glendale.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS.

Beginning July 1st, all advertising notices on the first page of the NEWS, will be charged for at the rate of ten cents a line. Reading notices on other pages at the usual price, five cents per line.

Another of the high-priced freaks of the Chicago University, by custom dubbed "Professor," has plunged recklessly into the arena to fight womankind. Prof. Starr declares that women always have been and always will be barbarians. But we can see his finish and cheerfully leave him to the tender mercies of the Federation of Women's clubs. Tuesday Afternooners please take notice!

Both the CITIZEN and SENTINEL at Hollywood have commenced to publish daily editions. We cannot congratulate our contemporaries on their venture, which will probably not pay either one of them for many months to come. The community, however, will be a gainer. A daily newspaper in a small town within half an hour's ride of a large city comes pretty near being a superfluity.

THE MENACE OF DRY GRASS.

The quantity of dry grass on vacant lots and in the fields outside the town is greater than usual this season and is in consequence more of a menace to the safety of nearby buildings. It is a matter of regret that there does not seem to be any law as yet framed making it obligatory upon property owners to clear their property of grass and other things that are unsightly and dangerous. We do not feel at all sure that it is not possible for the city trustees to legislate to some effect upon this subject. But if this is impossible, it is still practicable for them to take measures to have the parkways along the principal streets cleaned up; their condition is a disgrace to a municipality that pretends to be up-to-date. A hundred dollars devoted to this purpose would be a good investment and we do not believe that the taxpayers would protest against such expenditures.

EDWARD EVERETT HALE.

The death of this most distinguished man marks the passing away of one of the best known and most useful of American citizens. He was born in 1822, was a precocious child and may be said to have practically begun his long period of usefulness when at the age of 20 he was ordained a Unitarian minister and until the day of his death was one of the bright and shining lights of that denomination; for many years, indeed, the foremost figure in that church. Perhaps he was best known as the author of the famous patriotic story, "The Man Without a Country," which has taken its place among American classics. But the field of his usefulness was so varied that a complete list of his achievements would be a large one. Senator Hale in speaking of him, a short time before his death, mentioned a score of things accomplished by Mr. Hale, any one of which would have made him famous and have written him down as a benefactor of mankind. The "Lend-a-Hand" clubs and the society of the "Kings Daughters," owe their beginning to Edward Everett Hale. The work he did lives after him and the story of his life is an inspiration.

THE CALHOUN CASE.

Every now and again we are prompted to say, "Poor Old San Francisco," as some new misfortune is reported in that unfortunate city. The mistrial of the president of the United Railways, after months of effort to obtain a conviction and at the expense of large amounts of money, is certainly discouraging to lovers of justice everywhere and must be particularly so to the taxpayers of that city. It is not the fact that a conviction was not secured that is discouraging, but that no verdict was reached at all. The weak point of our jury system that requires in a criminal trial, a unanimous verdict from twelve men, never had a more conspicuous exemplification. The jury in this instance made all the efforts of the law abortive, because of the stubbornness of one man. In all fairness the defendant was entitled to a verdict of acquittal, just as logically as his guilt would have been considered proved, had ten men out of the twelve stood out for his conviction.

Patrick Calhoun may be guilty, but the fact remains that all the efforts of Prosecutor Heney, have failed to prove it. There is no reason to doubt that Mr. Heney has put forward his best case and a trial of Patrick Calhoun on other indictments, promises merely to be a further waste of time and money.

THE BOND ELECTION.

That the majority by which the people of Glendale voted on Tuesday last to go into the electric lighting business was a large one ought to be a source of gratification even to that minority of the voters, who expressed their sentiments by voting against the proposition but were outnumbered; because it leaves no room for doubt as to the wishes of the people. Every well wisher of our young and ambitious city must hope that the venture may prove a success and he should endeavor to make it so. The temptation to say, "I told you so," when difficulties arise and the tax rate is increased, should be restrained. We do not doubt that ultimately the project will prove a success, (for only gross mismanagement or extremely bad luck can make it a failure)—not just at once—but in the course of two or three years, for our rapidly increasing population assures a constantly increasing revenue. For the first two or three years we may have to face a deficit, but if we have a well-lighted city, the indirect returns will easily offset it. There are worse things than taxes; stagnation is one of them. The spirit of progress is in the air. The vote of Tuesday undoubtedly stamps Glendale as a progressive community, ambitious to take a front place in the procession that moves steadily forward to the goal of the growing cities of today that will be achieving greater things tomorrow.

* * *

It gives us pleasure to express again our confidence in the board of city trustees who will have the control of this large sum of money and will be burdened with the management of the enterprise. They will be compelled to give to the matter their best thought and most serious efforts and to contribute without any recompense of a financial nature, a great deal of their time. They have expressed themselves as desirous of being conservative in regard to expenditures and yet determined that the whole city, even to the remotest corners, shall receive the benefits of the lighting system. They recognize, we believe, the rights of the present lighting company which has played a useful part thus far in building up our city, but the benefits of which have been confined to only a limited portion of our territory. The proprietor of this company sometime ago expressed his willingness to dispose of his plant to the city. The principal difficulty in the way of this consummation appeared to be the fact that considerable of the territory covered by the present company is outside the corporate limits and could not be supplied by a company controlled by the municipality. We believe, however, that a way may be found to overcome this difficulty and hope that the trustees and the proprietor of the present lighting system may be able to merge their interests in a manner satisfactory to both parties.

STATESMEN OR COMMERCIAL AGENTS?

Some one has suggested the name of John D. Works as the next senator to be elected from California. Mr. Works is a good man and a good lawyer. We do not know whether he has in him the qualities which constitute a statesman or not; in fact, it does not matter. California does not want statesmen to represent her in the Congress of the United States; she wants special attorneys, boosters, commercial agents, representatives who will secure for us what we want, whether it is a tariff of five cents a pound on prunes or an appropriation of a hundred millions to advertise our climate, and send compressed samples of it all over the world done up in blue bottles. We want postoffices, the biggest ones on earth and postmasters, just as big and as numerous as the limitations of our finite sphere will permit. We want everything on earth, but we want it on a commercial basis. A few years ago California asked for a tariff of one cent a pound on lemons and secured it; whereat we rejoiced. Now she asks for an increase of half a cent a pound more—and will doubtless get it—then we shall do some more rejoicing. But will this satisfy us? Nay, verily—the appetite grows with that it feeds upon and a few years hence California statesmen will be urging the passage of a bill making it a felony for an American citizen to buy, borrow or steal an imported lemon; and offering prizes for the heaviest consumer of lemonade and the festive lemon pie! There are eighty millions of people in the United States and less than two millions in California; all of these eighty millions are consumers of sugar, yet California through her representatives in Congress demands that the tariff on sugar be maintained because we have a few sugar factories that manufacture at a cost of somewhere in the neighborhood of three and a half cents and charge five cents for it at the factory door!

A few years ago we sent a congressman from Los Angeles to Washington who shortly after his arrival there rashly permitted himself to be interviewed in regard to a certain reciprocity treaty with Jamaica, which proposed to admit the scanty crop of inferior oranges from that island into the United States duty free, in consideration of certain benefits to be received by our citizens in other directions. Being a new man on the statesmanship job, he had honest opinions of his own, which he incautiously expressed. He said that he did not believe that the California citrus industry would be injured a particle by the free admission of Jamaica fruit! It was an awful thing to say—even to think—he ought, of course, to have consulted the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce before expressing his honest American opinion, but the result was just the same. The next morning the terrible news was flashed over the wires westward that a California congressman had said something! Then the Chamber of Commerce got busy; Wiggins or Willard, or whoever it was that acted as chief booster for that useful organization, called for his trusty stenographer and telegrams began to flash over the wires to Washington at the rate of forty an hour or so, while death messages and other matters of minor importance were side-tracked by the accommodating telegraph company. California won out—the congressman saw a great light—the great citrus industry was threatened with extinction by a few barrels of measly Jamaica oranges—he saw it, he said it, and one of the pet measures of that real statesman, James G. Blaine, "died a bornin'." 'Twas ever thus and always will be, California is a great and glorious state, sir, and when she wants anything on a commercial basis she has to have it, even though the heavens fall and it snows the next day!

No, California has no use for a statesman at Washington and if Judge Works has any of the earmarks of that rapidly disappearing brand of citizen, he is disqualified at the start and his case is hopeless unless he commences quickly a correspondence school course on commercialism!

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES.

Dr. Cleveland, formerly of the Orchard Avenue church of Los Angeles, will preach Sunday morning. In the evening the Sunday school will take the evening service for Children's Day exercises. The church sent the pastor as its delegate to the Northern Baptist convention which convenes at Portland, Ore., June 25th.

Death has taken two of the membership of the church this present week. Bro. John G. Kemp died Monday evening, and our honored deacon, H. H. Sanford died Wednesday evening. Also Miss May Martin, a charter member of the church, but at present a member of Bethel church, Los Angeles, died Wednesday afternoon; a sister of our brother, H. H. Martin. Deacon Sanford came to this church in the second year of its existence and has been a great support and help to all. A more kindly Christian life is seldom met with than was his.

"Be ye steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord." This he was in his quiet good way.

In the absence of the chorister, A. R. Taylor, Arthur W. Frazee is doing most excellent work with the music of the church.

Mr. Ray E. Goode, who has been in attendance at the College of Law connected with the University of California for the past three years, has received his degree and been admitted to the bar. The nine graduates of the West Glendale school received their diplomas on Friday evening at the new High School. An account of the exercises will appear next week.

West Glendale pupils look forward with joy to vacation days, a part of which they expect to spend on their spacious school grounds with their new swings, teeters, ladders, rings and sandpiles. The parents are more than pleased that the school library is to be open all summer on certain days for the pupils of that district and have so expressed themselves to the principal, Mrs. F. A. Taylor.

There will be a demonstration of hygienic foods at the Sanitarium Gymnasium on Thursday evening, July 1st, at 7:45 p. m. Mrs. Leadsworth, wife of Dr. J. R. This exhibition of dainty foods prepared without the use of deleterious ingredients, will appeal to those interested in healthful living. Everybody will be cordially welcomed.

THE FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION.

After several efforts to arouse a more general interest in a proper celebration of Independence Day, the committee which met last Monday evening decided not to charter the Salt Lake train, as had been proposed, but to leave it to citizens to reach the picnic grounds at Verdugo Park by their own conveyances. It is expected that the various churches and Sunday School organizations will take hold of the matter and attend in a body. The park has been secured for the day and committees appointed to look after details. It is understood, of course, that the celebration occurs on Monday, July 5th. It is expected that at least one good speaker from Los Angeles will be present; there will be music, games, etc. The program will be announced in our next issue and possibly by posters sooner.

MUNICIPAL LIGHTING IN UKIAH.

The following from Ukiah, Mendocino county, a city about the size of Glendale, in regard to their experience with municipal lighting is of interest:

Population, 3000. Assessed valuation, $1,125,000. Tax rate, $1.10. Portion of rate for municipal lights, 12c, for bonds only. Cost of plant, one bond issue, $18,000. (In eight years have spent about $20,000 more from direct taxes). Consumers, 400. Monthly expense $1150. Monthly receipts, $1350. Since April 1st, 1908, have bought power and the service is generally satisfactory. Up to that time the plant was run at a loss, supplied only lights and had no day service. Now supply power as well as light and are well satisfied. (Signed) Wm. Bromley, Chief Engineer.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

The present fire alarm system in the City of Glendale until further notice is as follows:

From 7 a. m. until 9 p. m. phone to the Glendale Pharmacy, Sunset 1461; and from 9 p. m. until 7 a. m. phone to the residence of the chief of the Glendale Volunteer Fire Department, Sunset 2761, any one turning in a fire alarm must state the location plainly, and give their name when turning in the alarm. Calls from the Incorporated City of Glendale will be responded to only; as there are no fire hydrants outside of the City of Glendale.

Any one turning in a false fire alarm will be prosecuted.

City Marshal and Chief of Glendale Volunteer Fire Department.

GRADUATING EXERCISES OF THE EIGHTH GRADE OF FOURTH STREET SCHOOL.

Sweet music and fragrant flowers lent the proper atmosphere for the happiness of the forty-one graduates on Friday night, June 18th, at Filger's Opera House, when the largest class ever graduated in San Fernando Valley received diplomas. The first musical number was given by Master Julius Kranz and the invocation by Rev. J. F. Moody. Miss May Church read the class history, and Miss Catherine Lennox the class prophecy. Diplomas were conferred by the president of the board of education, Dr. Robert A. Blackburn. The school orchestra, under supervisorship of Mrs. Mary Anderson, rendered selections of unusual merit. The class motto is "Aspire to the Stars," class flower, white cochet rose; class colors, green and white.

Scant Working Clothes.

In Singapore and Penang may be seen people from almost every part of the globe and representatives of almost every race except our North American Indians. The greater proportion of Malays, East Indians and Cingalese, with their bronze black skins, make the Chinese and Japanese seem almost like white people. Each wears the costume of his native country in so far as he wears anything, but eight out of every ten persons to be seen consider themselves sufficiently well dressed when they have a yard or two of cheesecloth twisted about their loins. This fashion of dress applies to the workmen of all nationalities, whether Malay, African, Indian, Chinese or other. The Indian of the better class, whether Hindoo or Parsee, dresses as he would at home. The Cingalese wears fine robes and a comb encircling his crown. The Englishman of course has the usual ill fitting clothes and a pith helmet to prevent sunstroke. The tourist, who has taken advice from many sources as to his outfit, helps to make the picture complete.—Denver Post.

Two Bootblacks.

The bootblacks had no regular stand, but each had his box slung over his shoulder and, standing on the curbstone, solicited the passersby to stop and have a shine. Each boy had one "call."

The cry of the first boy was "Shine your boots here!" It announced the simple fact that he was prepared to shine their boots. The cry of the second boy was "Get your Sunday shine!"

It was then Saturday afternoon, and the hour was 4 o'clock. This second boy employed imagination. He related one attraction to another; he joined facts together. His four simple words told all that the first boy said and a great deal more. It conveyed the information not simply that he was there to shine shoes, but that tomorrow was Sunday; that it was likely to be a pleasant day; that he as a bootblack realized they would need an extra good shine.

Was it merely good luck that this boy secured twice the business of the other?—Lorin F. Deland in Atlantic.

Perfectly Correct.

A young minister in the course of an eloquent sermon on the pomps and vanities of the world staggered his congregation by exclaiming:

"Here am I standing, preaching to you with only half a shirt on my back, while you sit there covered with gewgaws and other baubles."

The next day a parcel containing several brand new shirts was left at his house by one of his hearers, a kind hearted old lady. Meeting the donor a few days afterward, he thanked her exceedingly, but expressed much surprise at receiving such an unexpected gift.

"Oh," said the lady, "you mentioned in your sermon on Sunday that you had only half a shirt on your back."

"Quite true," added his reverence, "but you seem to forget that the other half was in front."—London Answers.

How to Prove Coins.

The lady behind the counter at one of the London stores wrote out the bill for my purchases on a little manifolding book, which reproduced her writing by means of a carbon paper on the page below. Then she took the half sovereign I tendered in payment and, placing it on the upper page, pressed it hard down with her thumb. I asked the reason. "We have instructions," she explained, "to take the impression of any coin received by means of the carbon paper in the book. See (turning to the duplicate of my bill); there's the impression of your half sovereign. You couldn't very well think you'd given me a sovereign after seeing that, could you? You'd be surprised," she said, "how often we have to show our books to people to convince them we've not made a mistake."—Manchester Guardian.

Out of Line.

An enlisted man at the post at Fort Leavenworth was ordered to the range for the first time for target drill. Out of twenty-one chances the newcomer made never a hit.

"Oh, you dub!" exclaimed an officer standing near. "You've missed the target every time! What's the matter?"

"Well, sir," answered the recruit nonchalantly, "the only reason I can think of at present is that the person who set up my target hasn't placed it in a straight line from here."

Modern Buildings.

Probably not one out of every 10,000 buildings standing in all parts of the world and built by modern masons will be standing 500 years hence. We do not know how to put stones and bricks together as the ancients did, and consequently the buildings we raise nowadays are really mere temporary structures and will be in ruins when the ancient buildings of Greece and Egypt, built thousands of years ago, are in as good condition as they are now.

Paradoxical.

Reporter—What do you mean by saying that I use "paradoxical expressions?" Editor—I mean that you say impossible things. This story of yours, for instance, contains the phrase "bagpipe music."—Cleveland Leader.

Packing a Trunk.

"My dear, I cannot get any more things in, and yet everything in the trunk is absolutely indispensable."

"Yes, but the question is, 'Which of the absolutely indispensable things can we do without?'"

Bees that have honey in their mouths have stings in their tails.—Scottish Proverb.

A Bad Man.

Herman Whitaker wrote a story of the Tehuantepec rubber plantation. Guadaloupe, the mandador on one plantation at which Mr. Whitaker stayed, was informed that he was to be one of the characters in his story. "He never failed to question me each day as to the things I had made him do—in the story," said Mr. Whitaker. "When one morning I informed him that I had killed him off, he expressed great surprise.

"'Porque, senor, porque?'

"'Because you are a bad man, Guadaloupe.' Which was perfectly true.

"'I, senor?' he questioned, greatly surprised.

"'Si, Guadeloupe, you are bad. Think of how many men you have killed, according to your own count.'

"He thought for awhile, then looked up with a humorous smile. 'Oh, well! Did I put up a good fight?'

"'You bet you did, Guadaloupe.'

"Whereupon eyebrows and shoulders went up in a shrug. 'Bueno! Bueno! Then it ees all right.'"—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The Colleges of Oxford.

Each college is built round a quadrangle with a large entrance gateway which often rises into a quasi tower. The rooms immediately over the gateway are invariably designed for the residence of the warden, provost or principal of the college, so that the eye of the master may be over all who enter or leave the place. This mode of building still exists in India, having been introduced into Europe by the Moors when they conquered Spain, where we find that the compound, or quad, is still used for the tethering of all kinds of animals. Around the quad are arranged the chapel, library, hall or refectory, president's lodgings, buttery and kitchen. The students' rooms generally occupy the upper floors. William of Wickham, the celebrated architect, wisely placed his taller buildings—the chapel and hall—on the north side to keep off the cold winds, the lower buildings on the south more freely admitting sunshine.

Rainbow Upside Down.

Not very many persons have ever seen an inverted rainbow, although the phenomenon sometimes appears. At the Italian geodynamic observatory of Rocca de Papa not long ago the director and a party of visitors were fortunate enough to see one. The morning was showery, and as the party looked down from an elevation of 2,300 feet they saw in the Campagna a perfect rainbow with its concave side up, the middle point bearing to the northeast. From the Eiffel tower in Paris one has also been seen, in this case the rainbow being double and extending above and below the horizon to form two concentric circles nearly complete. Generally the inverted rainbow is to be seen only in the mountains and then very rarely. The phenomenon, of course, is due merely to the position of the observer, which must be above the refracting agent instead of below.—Pathfinder.

An Old Ash Wednesday Custom.

At one time it was on Ash Wednesday the custom to appoint an official of the English palaces to crow the hours of the day, like a cock, as a reminder of the denial of St. Peter. This practice excited the furious indignation of George II. His ignorance of English made it very difficult for the courtiers to explain that the royal cock crower was not making fun of him. The cock crower was a salaried officer at the English court as late as 1823.

A Boy's Idea of Parsons.

Not long ago a class of boys in an elementary school had an essay set, the subject being "Clergymen."

This is what one youngster wrote:

"There are 3 kinds of clergymen, Bishups, recters and curats. the bishups tells the recters to work, and the curats have to do it. A curat is a thin married man, but when he is a recter he gets fuller and can preach longer sermons and becums a good man."—London Scraps.

A Dreadful Analogy.

The hypothetical question had just been asked, and the prisoner fell forward in a faint. All was confusion in the courtroom.

"What is the matter with the prisoner?" demanded the judge, hammering his desk madly.

"Nothing, your honor," groaned the unhappy man as he came to. "I was only thinking how long I should have to serve if my sentence was as long as that."—Harper's Weekly.

Very Gently.

"How do you tell bad eggs?" queried the young housewife.

"I never told any," replied the fresh grocery clerk, "but if I had anything to tell a bad egg I'd break it gently."—Christian Guardian.

The Very Highest.

"What is the highest form of animal life?" was a question set for the pupils in a school some time ago, and one little girl was heard to reply, "The giraffe."

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Rev. Dr. Linscott for the International Newspaper Bible Study Club.

June 27th, 1909.

(Copyright, 1909, by Rev. I. S. Linscott, D.D.)

Temperance Lesson. Rom. xiii: 8:14.

Golden Text—Put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ—Rom. xiii:14.

Verse 8.—Is it always sinful to go into debt, when you have no visible means of paying it?

Is it right, or wrong, to go into debt when you have nothing to pay with, if your creditor knows your circumstances?

Is a business man who has honestly failed in business and given up all he has to his creditors, under moral obligation to pay the balance of the debt, if he makes enough money to do so out of future business?

Under modern business conditions, and the law of love and righteousness, when wholesalers sell on time, or give an adequate discount for cash to retailers, why are not the debts of an honest bankrupt retailer, the legitimate loss of his creditors in common with himself?

Wherein consists the folly and sin of a wage-earner in constant work, getting into debt?

Is it the duty of everybody to love everybody, the bad and the good, enemies and friends?

What is the advantage of loving everybody, to ourselves, and to those whom we love?

Verses 9-10—Give reasons, outside of the Bible, that will cover all circumstances, why it is always wrong to disobey these five moral prohibitions. (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Must all such acts, as are here forbidden, contravene the law of love to make them sinful; for example, If you had to kill a man who was about to kill one of your loved ones, would that be sinful?

Can an act be wrong that works out for the good of all parties?

Verses 11-12—If you knew you had to die inside of a month, what effect would that have upon your intentions and actions, so far as God is concerned; and if it would change these in the least, does that not prove that you are now living wrong and are in danger?

Most people are morally and spiritually asleep, and many are far into the night; what are the conditions which should suddenly startle such into full consciousness, as to their danger, and their duty?

Verse 13—How is it that the night is the time selected for so many bad deeds?

Should a man ever do a thing which he is ashamed for his best friends and neighbors to know?

Does the popular conscience generally, or always represent God's attitude to a thing; or are there some things God may be pleased with which the community would condemn as wrong, or vice versa?

How is it that barrooms are generally screened off from the public gaze?

Why is it a crime for a man to get drunk?

Why do most drunkards get drunk in the night, or away from public gaze?

Does the drink habit generally lead to the other four grave evils mentioned in verse thirteen?

Verse 14—What is the sure remedy for the drink habit, and all kindred evils of the flesh?

Does putting on Jesus, always mean putting on strength so we can control all the passions of the body, and the ambitions of the soul?

Lesson for Sunday, July 4th, 1909. Paul's Second Missionary Journey—Antioch to Philippi. Acts xv:36 to xvi:15.

Why the Criminal Weeps.

The central office detective had just sent one of the worst criminals in the city away for a long, long rest.

"Did he give you any trouble?" asked a friend.

"No; he did a good deal of crying, though."

"For some woman, I suppose?"

"Woman? Rather not! They never cry for human beings. This fellow had a wife who had stuck by him through the trial and who before he was caught worked her fingers off for him. Then there were two children. But he never mentioned them. He was crying about his flight—his pigeons, you know. He had about sixty fancy ones, and whenever he thought of what would become of them while he was away tears would spring to his eyes. A lot of the worst crooks and gangsters in the city are fanciers, and a kid couldn't be more sentimental than they are. Sometimes, too, they are sorry for dogs. I knew one who was more anxious about his ferret than anything else. At the same time I never knew a criminal, man or woman, who had a cat among the things they were sorry to leave behind."—New York Press.

One Thing Certain.

Canvasser (to lady of the house)—Can you tell me, my dear madam, whether your husband is Liberal or Conservative?

"Oh, well," said the lady, "when he's with Liberals he's a Liberal, and when he's with Conservatives he's a Conservative."

"Yes, but between ourselves what is he at home?"

"Oh, at home! He's a perfect nuisance."—London Answers.

JUST TIME.

The Wonderful Part It Plays in the Earth's History.

Truly it is hard for us to realize what a part time has played in the earth's history—just time, duration—so slowly, oh, so slowly, have the great changes been brought about! The turning of mud and silt into rock in the bottom of the old seas seems to have been merely a question of time. Mud does not become rock in man's time nor vegetable matter become coal. These processes are too slow for us. The flexing and folding of the rocky strata, miles deep, under an even pressure is only a question of time. Allow time enough and force enough and a layer of granite may be bent like a bow. The crystals of the rock seem to adjust themselves to the strain and to take up new positions, just as they do much more rapidly in a cake of ice under pressure. Probably no human agency could flex a stratum of rock, because there is not time enough even if there were power enough. "A low temperature acting gradually," says my geology, "during an indefinite age would produce results that could not be otherwise brought about even through greater heat." "Give us time," say the great mechanical forces, "and we will show you the immobile rocks and your rigid mountain chains as flexible as a piece of leather." "Give us time," say the dews and the rains and the snowflakes, "and we will make you a garden out of those same stubborn rocks and frowning ledges." "Give us time," says Life, starting with its protozoans in the old Cambrian seas, "and I will not stop till I have peopled the earth with myriad forms and crowned them all with man." John Burroughs in Atlantic.

GOING ABOUT IN CHINA.

Useful Sedan Chair In the Crowded, Noisy Streets of Canton.

There are but two ways to go about Canton—on foot or in a sedan chair. The streets are from four to eight feet wide, the average being probably about six feet, and wheeled vehicles are out of the question. Even the jinrikisha cannot be used here. If you try to make your way on foot, the density of the moving masses renders progress almost impossible, and rowdies and pickpockets are numerous, so that the best plan is to take a responsible native guide and chair.

The chairs are carried by two, three and sometimes four men, according to the weight of the passenger. The two bamboo poles by which the chair is supported are about eighteen feet long and are joined at the front and rear ends by a crosspiece. After you have taken your seat the coolies raise the ends of the poles to their shoulders and are off at a dogtrot, only interrupted by a "congestion of traffic," which occurs very frequently.

It is surprising to see how rapidly they can go through the crowded streets. The whole line of chair carriers are yelling all the time, as are other people who are carrying burdens, for as there are no carts in use the entire merchandise of the city is transported in the same manner, not by chairs, of course, but slung on poles carried across the shoulders.

The noise resulting from the simultaneous shouting of every one in sight, both in front and in the rear, for the stream is flowing in both directions, is enough to make one wonder if the long expected riot has begun.—Denver Post.

Made It Clear.

Sergeant of Royal Irish Constabulary (interviewing new member of the force)—Well, Maginnis, 'tis the fine, sthrong, fleshy lookin' fella ye are. Now, if a desprit man attackted ye wid a knife an' a pistol, would ye run or fight? Recruit—Shure, yer honor, I would! Sergeant—What, ye would? Recruit—Begorra, I mane I would not, sor! Sergeant—Ah, now that's betther! G'long wid ye, me bucko!—London Punch.

Joseph Marple, jr., was a member of a party of young people from the First Methodist church of Los Angeles which enjoyed Tuesday evening in roller skating in Los Angeles.

N. C. Burch of "Twin Pines" has returned from a pleasant visit at Redondo. Much of Mr. Burch's time, while at Redondo was devoted to the successful nse of a rod and reel.

The guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Weston, Mrs. Charles L. Peckham, Miss E. S. Brett of Chicago and Theodore Prescott.

On account of the few people who assembled at the Tropico grammar school, Monday evening, no Improvement Society meeting was held. There are about half a dozen residents in this place who can be depended upon to advance anything that would be of interest to the community and it is just this few who are the standbys of the Tropico Improvement Association. The remainder of the residents are spasmotic, going to the meetings when there is a great deal of excitement and noise, but staying around home when the time for the actual work ought to be done. It again appears that the only way Tropico will ever be pulled out of the rut in which it now stands is by incorporation. Maybe a board of lively trustees could bring the people out of their snooze.

Tropico Presbyterian Notes

By Rev. Henderson C. Shoemaker.

A very enjoyable social evening was given by the Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church of this place, last night at the home of Misses Tersa and Phoebe Snell on Eulalia street. The hours were passed away with games of various kinds and music.

Next Sunday morning Rev. Theodore Hopping of Glendale will preach in the Presbyterian church of this place. In the evening the pastor of this church will lecture on "The Life of Esther." This lecture promises to be one of unusual interest and should be heard by a large number of the Tropico people.

We wish to announce that on week next Sunday evening we will hold a patriotic service. Fourth of July will fall on that day and the pastor believes that the evening could be spent in no better way than to turn the service over to the honoring of our country in song and discourse. Every one is cordially invited to attend this service and to bring a friend.

It is the expectation of the pastor and his wife that they will be able to move into their new home at the corner of Blanche avenue and Cypress street the early part of next week. They had thought of being able to move in this week, but on account of the work on the house being somewhat delayed, this was made impossible.

TROPICO METHODIST NOTES.

By Rev. J. H. Henry.

Last Sunday morning, Rev. Goodsell, pastor of the Methodist church at Edendale, presented the sermon at this church, which was greatly appreciated. A song service took the place of the regular preaching. There was a good attendance and the singing by the congregation and the different special numbers were rendered so as to delight and benefit all who were fortunate enough to attend. Vocal solos were given by Mrs. Edward H. Weston, Mrs. Chobe and Theodore Prescott and a violin solo was rendered by Mrs. Morgan, accompanied by her daughter. Mr. and Mrs. Barnhart of Los Angeles, were present and in company with Messrs. Marple and Prescott, Rev. Henry and Mrs. Menzes, rendered several old time songs.

Next Sunday morning Children's Day will be observed at this church. The service will commence promptly at 10:30 o'clock. Mrs. E. H. Weston is training the children for a flag drill which will be the special feature of the service. A cordial invitation is extended to all the parents of the neighborhood to be present, for it is hoped the little house will be filled.

At 7 o'clock next Sunday evening the new officers of the Epworth League will be installed, and at 8 o'clock the pastor will preach upon the subject, "The Doctrine of Hell," as presented in the New Testament by Christ and his apostles.

PLEASANT EVENING.

The officers and members of the Tropico Girls' Anti-Slang club gave a farewell party at G. A. R. hall, Monday evening, complimentary to three of their members who contemplate leaving Tropico shortly. Miss Marjorie Storer, who leaves for her home in Rochester, N. Y.; Miss Theresa Trafford and Miss Lela Westphalen, who will take up their residence in Los Angeles next week.

The hall was most artistically decorated for the occasion. Music, games and dancing were enjoyed, later dainty refreshments were served in the banquet hall. Mrs. W. A. Hough, Mrs. B. F. Storer, Mrs. John Hobbs and Mrs. J. J. Laws chaperoned the hostesses and their guests who included Misses Marjorie Storer, Lela Westphallen, Theresa Trafford, Jennie Boring, Violet Turner, Mabel Evans, Mabel Coleman, Stella Miller, Elise Vance, Katherine Hobbs, Blanche Shea, Nina Claver, Dorothy Hobbs, Lura Hibben and Mary Evans; Masters George Meeke, Granville McClure, Will Richardson, Will Marple, Fay Stone, Dwight Stephenson, Ray McDonald, Fred Spear, Maurice Burke, Raymond Barker, George Barnes, Louis Bittle, Merrill Blain, Channing Follette and Charles Schick.

THE VAUDEVILLE SHOW.

The most important event in this place this week was the vaudeville show which was given by the Tropico Social and Benefit club in Logan's hall on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. The proceeds of the Tuesday evening performance went to the Tropico Free Library, while the money taken in on Wednesday night was given to Court Tropico, I. O. F., No. 4970.

Every number on the program was rendered in an excellent manner and proves that the members of this club are real artists in their line. The way in which this club was received at each of these performances gives evidence that they will receive a cordial welcome and universal patronage at any evening of entertainment that they may give in the future.

Following is the program as rendered:

The Laughing Hebrew Comedians, Clarence Punter and Claude Sisney; The Dale Sisters, pleasing vocalists, Miss Maude Schaeffer and Miss Florence Johnson; "The Farm Hand," a comedy, Mr. and Mrs. William Evans; "The Cold Finish," monologue, R. H. Punter; The Melvinoes, Grotesque Jugglers, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shipman; Song Specialties, Harry Marple; Billy Evans, the Happy Irishman, William Evans.

The program was concluded by the side-splitting farce called, "Too Much Married."

GREAT PICNIC.

The Devil's Gate was the scene and the grammar school graduates were the participants in the very jolliest picnic of the season on Wednesday; weather and scenery were ideal and the excellence and abundance of the spread simply left the picnic party speechless. Ice cream, cake, soda pop, fruit was passed out apparently without limit. Mrs. Ryan and members of the faculty chaperoned the gay crowd and they all declare it was the picnic of their lives.

BACCALAUREATE SERMON FOR HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES.

Unique in its originality was the sermon given for the Union High School pupils on Sunday night, June 20th, in the Methodist church, by Rev. D. F. Howe of Westlake M. E. church, Los Angeles. Certainly his hearers will not soon forget the "whetstone" which formed the social keynote to the discourse. The class and faculty attended in a body and the church was filled to its capacity with friends and patrons of the school.
